

Without full participation, including the almost 2,200 prisoners of conscience, and an environment that allows people and parties to engage in the range of electoral activities, the elections will not be credible.

—Tomas Ojea Quintana, UN Human Rights Envoy to Burma February 19, 2010